ABOUT THE SEMINAR

The National Seminar on Inclusive Higher Education as a Human Right: Addressing Gender, Age, and Intersectional Inequalities in Indian Universities aims to reframe higher education as a universal and inclusive right. It will explore how gender, age, caregiving roles, and socio-economic factors shape access and participation in academic spaces. Organized by the Centre for Women and Law, National Law University Odisha, the seminar will bring together scholars, policymakers, and practitioners to discuss institutional reforms, intersectional inclusion, and global perspectives on equity in education. Through dialogue, research, and policy engagement, the seminar seeks to advance inclusive educational practices and develop a framework promoting safe, equitable, and empowering learning environments across higher education institutions.

ABOUT NHRC

The National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) of India is an independent statutory body established in 1993 under the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993 to uphold the dignity, equality, and fundamental freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution of India and international human rights conventions. As the nation's apex human rights institution, the NHRC serves as an impartial watchdog against violations committed by public authorities or through systemic neglect. Its key functions include investigating complaints, conducting suo motu inquiries, inspecting custodial and detention facilities, reviewing laws and policies, and recommending preventive and corrective measures to ensure accountability and justice. Beyond enforcement, the Commission actively promotes awareness, education, and research on human rights issues through collaboration with academic and civil society organizations.

ABOUT NLUO

The University was established and incorporated by the National Law University Odisha NLUO Act of 2008, for advanced teaching and research in law. NLUO is recognized under Section 12(b) of the UGC Act 1956 & its degrees are recognized by the Bar Council of India. NLUO is a member of UGC-INFLIBNET and a participant in the National Knowledge Network.

ABOUT CWL

The Centre for Women and Law (CWL) at National Law University Odisha (NLUO) is a research centre committed to advancing gender justice through interdisciplinary study and action. It serves as a platform for examining social, structural, and legal dimensions of gender equality while promoting awareness and reform. CWL undertakes research projects, training, and capacity-building programmes for organizations and institutions working on women's rights. Through publications, seminars, and conferences, the Centre fosters dialogue on power, representation, and justice, striving to build a more equitable and inclusive society grounded in constitutional and human rights values.
